Application brochure

Kibion has produced a brochure which describes some of the different breath tests, which can be performed on IRIS[®].

The information is based on published literature which represents today's clinical research.

All the substrates mentioned are non-registered substances which need approval by the national medical product agency before clinical use.

You have to find out the rules and regulations in your country as Kibion is not able to supply these substrates.

This brochure can serve as a guide how to perform a breath test in order to get information about specific enzymatic and metabolic functions in vivo.

You can also find the brochure on our web under IRIS[®] and Applications.

If you want hard copies, please let us know and we will send you some.

Best regards
KIBION
